ABOUT ME

With over a decade as an esteemed elementary and special education teacher, and educator of future teachers, Challenge Island's approach to learning resonates deeply with my personal educational philosophy. In my career, I've nurtured creativity, fostered engagement, and brought excitement to young learners, challenging them with dynamic activities and imaginative stories. My extensive background in leading teams, guiding communities, and serving on local boards equips me to make real and positive changes in education, a path I'll continue with Challenge Island - Camden County NW.

Beyond shaping young minds, I find joy as a wife, mother to three amazing children, two cats, and an "old man-puppy." My interests span architecture, landscape design, various crafts, gardening, baking, travel, and even playing video games with my kids, which all happen to enrich my professional perspective. Observing the ways our Science Technology, Engineering, Art, and Mathematics (STEAM) mini-lessons ignite enthusiasm among young learners profoundly inspires me, and introducing these concepts beginning at a young age aligns with my belief in early engaging education for real-world success. With a genuine passion for change, I am excited to contribute to Challenge Island's ongoing success, ensuring its transformative impact on countless young minds.
